

JPF "Speak Out" Challenge! – Europe`s biggest public speaking event

10,500 Students

423 Schools

32 Boroughs

1 Challenge

TOP TEN OPPORTUNITIES FOR FUTURE SPEAKING

By the end of the day's training you will feel more confident about speaking in public.

Speaking in public is a skill you need to keep working at so here are a few ideas for you to consider. Note: Those marked with an asterix will look great on your CV, and don't forget to mention your Certificate of Achievement at a job interview.

- 1.) Put your workbook somewhere safe so that the next time you have to do a presentation to a group you can re-read the tips we have given you for speaking in public. And don't forget to take the Challenge! online.
- 2.) Volunteer to give a brief public "vote of thanks" to someone who has made an effort for you or your school.
- 3.) Take part in school open days or events to act as a school ambassador.
- 4.) Take the initiative and start a school public speaking club or join the debating society. It will be great fun. *
- 5.) Put yourself forward to report back to your teacher after any curriculum-based group discussions.
- 6.) Volunteer to take a mentoring role towards a new arrival at your school.*
- 7.) Pass on some of your speaking tips and techniques to your friends or family.
- 8.) If you are part of a club, team or society consider taking up a post of responsibility which will give the opportunity to get involved in meetings, PR activities, decision-making and planning. *
- 9.) Take a higher profile role in school or charity fundraising. Develop a good one minute speech on how people can support the cause, what they can do, when they should do it, where the focuses of activities are going to be directed and why they should support you. *
- 10.) Chair a brainstorming session on new ideas of how to develop and build on your public speaking skills. You will be building your confidence, leading a group discussion, listening to ideas and encouraging creativity.

Caroline Clark 2007 © If you would like to comment on this article please email me on carolineclark@speakersbank.co.uk